

NAUTIS Counselling Center

Service description in English language.

How we can help:

- We will help you to get oriented in your situation, find a suitable solution and plan required steps to reach it.
- We will guide you to secure your rights and legitimate interests.
- We will support you in dealing with your personal relations, state administration, follow-up services and other institutions.
- We will help you to understand the autism spectrum disorder generally as well as a part of your life.

How we do it:

- The employees of our counselling center will hear you out, they will ask what your previous attempts of solution were. On this basis, they will provide you with relevant information on what are other possibilities to reach your goal and where you can get a follow-up help. In case you need it, you will be also offered an accompaniment.

Who will be helping you:

- In our counseling center, you will be in touch with social workers whose competence is to get an understanding of your situation and respond to it adequately by proposing options for its solution. Information on the diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder will be provided by psychologists. A lawyer will help you find your way around the law.
